ABSTRACT

Presented in this document are numerous tables, graphs, and charts showing comparative data on various social indicators in Los Angeles County. Based on the 1970 census and other available public records, the data presented emphasize comparable categories by racial/ethnic groups, age, and sex, showing a consideration for the needs of a wide variety of social action programs. Data are grouped under the headings: people; education and employment status; economic circumstances; residential patterns; household relationship and vital statistics; youth circumstances; and crime and community health. A list of resource agencies is appended. (Author/EB)

PATTERNS OF SOCIAL CHANGE

LOS ANGELES COUNTY, 1960 - 1973

"Patterns of Social Change" was compiled by the Research and Program Development Division of the Los Angeles County Commission on Human Relations, based on the 1970 Census and other available public records. It is part of an ongoing program of research and education aimed at promoting inter-group understanding among all peoples of Los Angeles County.

Selection of social indicators for this report was based primarily on accessibility of data, with emphasis on the need for comparable categories by racial/ethnic group and by sex, and with consideration for the needs of a wide variety of social action programs.

Where indicated, Human Relations Commission estimates or statistical adjustments were made in order to provide greater comparability across data groupings. It must be noted that information gathering and reporting techniques vary significantly among agencies. It has not been possible to adjust statistically for such variability or for the possibility of undercounting and/or inaccurate categorization of persons by racial/ethnic group. A list of community resource agencies for further reference on such matters is included in the Appendix.

"Patterns of Social Change" is available at no charge in a limited quantity to groups, organizations, and agencies involved in specific human relations research and planning.

The Commission gratefully acknowledges the assistance of all who aided with this report. We are especially thankful for the expert guidance provided by George Marr, Head, Population and Human Resources Section, Los Angeles County Department of Regional Planning, and his staff; and for the contributions of the following people:
